

1 JASON J. CURLIANO [SBN 167509]
2 BUTY & CURLIANO LLP
3 516 16th Street
4 Oakland, CA 94612
5 Tel: (510) 267-3000
6 Fax: (510) 267-0117

Attorneys for Defendants:
7 KAISER PERMANENTE MEDICAL CENTER
8 ROSEVILLE (a non-legal entity) and DR. MICHAEL MYETTE

9 IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
10 FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

11 JONEE FONSECA,

12 Plaintiff,

13 v.

14 KAISER PERMANENTE MEDICAL CENTER
15 ROSEVILLE, DR. MICHAEL MYETTE M.D.,
and DOES 1 THROUGH 10, INCLUSIVE,

16 Defendants.

) Case No: 2:16-CV-00889-KJM-EFB

) KAISER ROSEVILLE AND
) DR. MICHAEL MYETTE'S OPPOSITION ) TO REQUEST FOR TEMPORARY ) RESTRAINING ORDER AND FURTHER
) INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

) Date: May 2, 2016

) Time: 1:30 p.m.

) Courtroom: 3

) Hon. Kimberly J. Mueller

) Complaint Filed: April 28, 2016

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
I. INTRODUCTION .....	1
II. ISSUES PRESENTED .....	2
III. PROCEDURAL AND FACTUAL HISTORY .....	3
A. Chronology of medical treatment .....	3
B. The filing of the state court action .....	4
IV. LEGAL ANALYSIS.....	7
A. Plaintiff’s claims are not asserted against the correct legal party since Kaiser Roseville and Dr. Myette are not state or government actors that have allegedly violated plaintiff’s constitutional rights.....	7
B. Plaintiff is unable to establish a substantial likelihood of success on the merits or that there are serious questions going to the merits of her claims.....	9
1. CUDDA provides a legislatively mandated statutory framework within which physicians in the State of California are required to make determinations regarding whether a patient is legally dead.....	10
2. Kaiser Roseville provided plaintiff and Israel’s family with a period of time to accommodate the religious practices and concerns of plaintiff and her family .....	12
3. Kaiser Roseville physicians have provided appropriate care to Israel and this care should not include placement of a PEG tube or a tracheostomy tube .....	13
a. The state court has already ruled that Kaiser Roseville physicians cannot be directed to place a PEG tube or a tracheostomy tube.....	13
b. Under California law physicians are not required to participate in medical procedures they believe would not improve the condition of the patient .....	14
4. Plaintiff’s claim alleging a violation of the Free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment of the United States Constitution is not substantially likely to succeed and it does not raise a serious questions going to the merits .....	15
5. Plaintiff’s claim alleging a violation of her Right to Privacy under the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution is not substantially likely to succeed and it does not raise a serious questions going to the merits .....	18
6. There is no basis for asserting a claim under the Rehabilitation Act and the ADA under the facts alleged in this case .....	19
7. The abstention doctrine under Colorado River v. United States should result in the staying of any federal court proceedings until the state court proceedings are conclude.....	19
V. CONCLUSION.....	20

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

Page(s)

Cases

Alliance for the Wild Rockies v. Cottrell, 632 F.3d 1127, 1134-35 (9th Cir. 2011)..... 9, 16

Amoco Production Co. v. Gambell, 480 U.S. 531, 542 (1987)..... 9

B & B Hardware, Inc. v. Gargis Industries, Inc., 135 S.Ct. 1293, 1299 (2015)..... 14

Barber v. Superior Court, 147 Cal.App.3d 1006, 1013 (1983)..... 10, 15, 17

Brentwood Academy v. Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association, et al., 531 U.S. 288 (2001)..... 8

California Shock Trauma Air Rescue v. State Compensation Insurance Fund, 636 F.3d 538, 544 (9th Cir. 2011)..... 8

Cantwell v. Connecticut, 310 U.S. 296, 303 (1940)..... 15

Collins v. Harker Heights, 503 U.S. 115, 125 (1992)..... 19

Colonial Penn Grp., Inc. v. Colonial Deposit Co., 834 F.2d 229, 237 (1st Cir.1987)..... 8

Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States, 424 U.S. 800, 817 (1976)..... 20

Dority v. Superior Ct. (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 273 ..... 2, 10, 16, 17

Emp't Div., Dep't of Human Res. Of Ore. v. Smith, 494 U.S. 872, 879 (1990)..... 15, 16

FCC v. Beach Commc'ns. Inc., 508 U.S. 307, 315 (1993)..... 16

Gadda v. State Bar. Of Cal. 511 F.3d 933, 938 (9th Cir.2007)..... 16

In re Christopher, 106 Cal.App.4th 533, 550 (2003)..... 16, 18

Ivanova v. Columbia Pictures Industries, Inc. 217 F.R.D. 501 (2003)..... 13

Jackson v. East Bay Hospital, 980 F. Supp. 1341, 1357-58 (N.D. Cal. 1997)..... 9

Lloyd's Aviation, Inc. v. Center for Environmental Health, 2011 WL 497866 (E.D. Calif. 2011) ... 8

Lucido v. Sup. Ct. (1990) 51 Cal.3d. 335 ..... 13

Munaf v. Geren, 553 U.S. 674, 689-690 (2008)..... 9

New Orleans & Gulf Coast Ry. Co. v. Barrios, 533 F.3d 321, 330 (5th Cir. 2008)..... 8

R.R. Street & Co. v. Transport Ins. Co., 656 F3d 966, 980-981 (9th Cir.2011)..... 20

Raich v. Gonzales, 500 F3d 850, 864 (9th Cir.2007) ..... 18

Reno v. Flores, 507 U.S. 292, 302 (1993)..... 19

Shaw v. Delta Airlines, 463 U.S. 85, 96 n.14 (1983) ..... 8

Skysign Int'l, Inc. v. City & Cty. of Honolulu, 276 F.3d 1109, 1115 (9th Cir. 2002)..... 13

Snodgrass v. Provident Life & Accident Ins. Co., 147 F.3d 1163, 1167-1168 (9th Cir.1988)..... 20

Stormans, Inc. v. Weisman, 794 F.3d 1064, 1075-76 (9th Cir.2015) ..... 16, 18

Taylor v. St. Vincent's Hospital, 523 F.2d 75, 77 (9th Cir. 1975)..... 9

Thompson v. Davis, 295 F.3d 890, 895 (9th Cir.2002) ..... 19

Washington v. Glucksberg, 521 U.S. 01, 728 (1997) ..... 18, 19

Weinberger v. Romero-Barcelo, 456 U.S. 305, 311-312 (1982)..... 9

Winter v. Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 20 (2008) ..... 9

Statutes

28 U.S.C. Section 1738 ..... 13

29 U.S.C. Section 794 ..... 19

42 U.S.C. Section 12101 ..... 19

Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 65(b) ..... 9

Health and Safety Code Section 1254.4 ..... passim

Health and Safety Code Section 7080 ..... 2, 7

Health and Safety Code Section 7081 ..... 2, 11

Health & Safety Code Section 7180..... 1, 10, 16, 17

Health and Safety Code Section 7181 ..... 7

Probate Code Section 4735 ..... 14, 18

Probate Code Section 4736 ..... 18

Probate Code Sections 4654..... 18

1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 In the universe of tragedies a parent can experience during their lifetime, perhaps no event is
3 more tragic than the death of a child. Kaiser Roseville (hereinafter the use of “Kaiser Roseville” 4 refers to the specific Kaiser Permanente medical facility where Israel was transferred) and its
5 physicians, nurses and other caregivers understand and sympathize with the severity of the plaintiff
6 Jonee Fonseca’s heartbreaking circumstances. However, physicians must make medical 7 determinations of when death occurs. In doing so, they must follow certain procedures and make 8 certain determinations under California Health & Safety Code section 7180 et seq. (hereinafter in 9 places referred to as the California Uniform Determination of Death Act or “CUDDA”) as passed by 10 the California Legislature.<sup>1</sup>

11 Following a series of medical events and treatment that occurred outside of Kaiser Roseville
12 at other medical institutions, including a finding of brain death by another hospital, Kaiser Roseville
13 agreed to accept the transfer of Israel from the University of California Davis Medical Center in 14 Sacramento (“UCD Medical Center”). The purpose of the transfer was for Kaiser Roseville to 15 further evaluate Israel and to provide independent confirmation that Israel experienced brain death as 16 defined under CUDDA and the Guidelines for the Determination of Brain Death in Infants and 17 Children (hereinafter referred to as “Guidelines”).<sup>2</sup> On April 8, 2016, prior to the transfer, UCD
18 Medical Center made its own determination that Israel experienced brain death.

19 CUDDA provides a set of statutory rules created by the California Legislature for 20 determining when an individual is medically deceased. Kaiser Roseville followed the procedures 21 under CUDDA. The issue of whether the rules were correctly followed was fully litigated in Placer
22 County Superior Court. On April 29, 2016, after multiple hearings and providing plaintiff and her
23 legal team with two weeks to gather and present evidence, the trial court ruled there was no evidence
24 the doctors and caregivers at Kaiser Roseville failed to comply with CUDDA and the Guidelines in

25 _____
26 <sup>1</sup> The determination of death by neurological criteria, e.g., “brain death”, has been determined to constitute death in all
27 jurisdictions in the United States and in most other developed countries. See J.L. Bernat, The Whole-Brain Concept of 28 Death Remains Optimum Public Policy, 34(1) J.L. Med. & Ethics 35-43 (2006); D. Gardner, et al., International Perspective on the Diagnosis of Death, 108 British J. Anesthesia 114-128 (2012).

<sup>2</sup> See Nakagawa, TA. *Guidelines for the Determination of Brain Death in Infants and Children: An Update of the 1987
Task Force Recommendations –Executive Summary*, Annals of Neurology, 2012, Vol. 71, pp. 573-585.

1 determining that Israel had experienced brain death. In fact, the record shows that during the two
2 week period and over the course of multiple court hearings, plaintiff did not present a single live
3 witness, and did not present a physician capable of conducting an independent evaluation of Israel
4 consistent with accepted medical standards.<sup>3</sup> Nor did plaintiff direct the trial court's attention to any 5 mistake or lapse in following accepted medical standards by the doctors at Kaiser Roseville.<sup>4</sup> (See
6 Dority v. Superior Ct. (1983) 145 Cal.App.3d 273 [the jurisdiction of a California Superior Court 7 "can be invoked upon a sufficient showing that it is reasonably probable that a mistake has been
8 made in the diagnosis of brain death or where the diagnosis was not made in accord with accepted
9 medical standards."]) The trial court's ruling found that "Health and Safety Code sections 7080 and 10 7181 have been complied with" by Israel's medical providers in concluding that Israel experienced 11 brain death. Plaintiff now seeks further relief on these issues in federal court.

12 II. ISSUES PRESENTED

13 Here, plaintiff does not appear to be attempting to relitigate the final determination that was 14 made by the state court on April 29, 2016; namely, that Kaiser Roseville's physicians and caregivers
15 complied with CUDDA and the Guidelines in determining that Israel experienced brain death.
16 Although plaintiff's papers are not a model of clarity, the primary argument is that the United States
17 Constitution, in particular the Free Exercise of Religion Clause of the First Amendment, mandates a 18 religious exemption to the determination of brain death under CUDDA. Although this appears to be 19 an issue of first impression, controlling legal authority analyzing the narrow scope of the free
20 exercise clause as it relates to invalidating a facially neutral state law compels a finding that CUDDA 21 is constitutional on its face and it serves a legitimate government interest in regulating medical 22 treatment and having consistency in the decision as to when individuals in California can be declared

---

23
24 <sup>3</sup> The only "medical" evidence presented by plaintiff in the state court action was in the form of a declaration from Dr.
25 Paul Byrne, a retired pediatrician and neonatologist. This same declaration was submitted by plaintiff as part of the 26 papers she filed in federal court. Dr. Byrne is not licensed to practice in the State of California and he has no specialty
27 in neurology. Additional, his opinions, as expressed in Paragraphs 14 and 15, are really that California law is wrong 28 because he believes there can be no finding of death, including brain death, if a patient still breaths and has a beating heart, even though these functions are being sustained by artificial means like they are in Israel's case.

<sup>4</sup> The record shows that Kaiser Roseville was ready to provide medical privileges at its facility to an appropriately qualified physician identified by plaintiff. The record also shows that KaiserRoseville worked with plaintiff and her attorneys in putting the staffing in place to assist in transferring Israel to a medical facility that agreed to accept Israel.
Plaintiff was apparently unable to obtain confirmation from an appropriate medical facility that it would accept Israel.

1 legally dead. There is also no violation of plaintiff's or Israel's constitutional right to privacy
2 following a determination by physicians and the court that he experienced brain death. Israel also 3 does not suffer from a "disability" that requires some type of an accommodation by Kaiser Roseville.

4 III. PROCEDURAL AND FACTUAL HISTORY

5 A. Chronology of medical treatment

6 As stated in the Complaint filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of 7 California, Israel presented to the emergency room at Mercy Hospital on April 1, 2016. Israel's 8 medical record documents that less than four months prior to this most recent emergency admission,
9 Israel presented to Kaiser Vacaville's Emergency Department with a severe asthma attack. In January 10 2016, the parents and Child Protective Services were informed that Israel's medical history and the 11 failure to comply with medical recommendations were weakening Israel's lung capacity so much so 12 that Israel might, at some point, not be able to recover from a severe bronchospasm event.

13 Given the severity of his condition on April 1, 2016, Mercy Hospital transferred Israel to the 14 Pediatric Intensive Care Unit at UCD Medical Center. While undergoing care at UCD Medical 15 Center, Israel suffered a severe bronchospasm, which progressed to a cardiac arrest. While Israel's 16 caregivers struggled to save his life, his lungs were so weak, and his health so poor, that he could not 17 adequately respond to medical treatment. After more than 40 minutes of CPR, UC Davis physicians
18 managed to restore cardio-pulmonary functioning with mechanical support. Given the length of time 19 Israel was without oxygen, UC Davis physicians were concerned the anoxic episode had resulted in 20 brain death. The physicians performed an examination to determine his neurological status. The 21 results were consistent with brain death. In addition, a nuclear medicine flow study showed no 22 evidence of cerebral perfusion. Israel could not be saved, despite heroic efforts by his many 23 caregivers at UCD Medical Center.

24 UC Davis physicians advised Israel's parents they intended to perform a second brain death
25 examination. They explained an unfavorable result in a second brain death examination would result
26 in Israel being declared legally dead. Prior to UC Davis physicians performing a second brain death

27 ///

28

1 examination, Israel's parents arranged to have him, while on mechanical cardio-pulmonary support,
2 transferred to Kaiser Roseville for a second opinion.

3 On April 12, 2016, Kaiser Roseville admitted Israel with his parent's consent to perform a
4 second brain death examination. That evening, Kaiser Roseville performed a brain death
5 examination, which included a clinical exam, neurological evaluation and apnea test. The results
6 indicated brain death.<sup>5</sup> On April 14, 2016, the physicians at the hospital performed yet another
7 examination, Israel's third determination for brain death. The third examination once again
8 confirmed brain death. In accordance with well-accepted medical standards, a declaration of death
9 was issued.<sup>6</sup> The family was notified, and the "reasonably brief period of accommodation" under 10 Health and Safety Code section 1254.4, which is intended to allow the family and next of kin time to 11 gather at the patient's bedside, began.

12 Maintaining Israel's organ functions requires constant monitoring and adjustment to his 13 medications, glucose, salt, water and adrenaline. While this constant monitoring and adjustment may 14 be sufficient to delay (but not prevent) the inevitable decay of his organs' function, it is not possible
15 to replicate all the complex chemical, hormonal and other processes that a live, functioning brain
16 regulates and controls. Through the state action and now the federal case, Kaiser Roseville continues 17 to provide extraordinary efforts to maintain Israel's cardio-pulmonary support, even though there is 18 still no evidence to question the determination of brain death made by physicians at UCD Medical 19 Center and at Kaiser Roseville. As plaintiff's counsel advised the state court on several occasions, 20 plaintiff and the family recognize the efforts that have been taken by Kaiser Roseville in this very 21 difficult situation and they are appreciative of those efforts and the care that has been provided by the 22 doctors and staff at Kaiser Roseville.

23 B. The filing of the state court action

24 Shortly after Israel was declared brain dead on April 14, 2016, plaintiff petitioned the 25

26 <sup>5</sup> Sedative medication was last administered on April 2, 2016.

27 <sup>6</sup> Israel met the clinical criteria for brain death as laid out and accepted by the medical community, including the: 1) 28 Pediatric Section of the Society of Critical Care Medicine, Mount Prospect, IL; 2) Section on Critical Care Medicine of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Elk Grove Village, IL; 3) Section on Neurology of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Elk Grove Village, IL; and 4) Child Neurology Society, St. Paul, MN.

1 Superior Court in Placer County for a temporary restraining order preventing Kaiser Roseville from 2 withdrawing cardio-pulmonary support. Plaintiff also requested time for an independent
3 neurological exam and requested that Kaiser Roseville maintain the level of care Israel had been 4 receiving prior to being declared dead. The Hon. Alan V. Pineschi granted plaintiff's request for a 5 temporary restraining order and assigned the matter to The Hon. Michael W. Jones for hearing on 6 April 15, 2016. The order required Kaiser Roseville to continue providing cardio-pulmonary support 7 and to continue providing medications currently administered, with necessary adjustments to 8 maintain his condition.

9 On April 15, 2016, the parties, including plaintiff and Nathaniel Stinson, Israel's father,
10 appeared for the hearing in state court. Plaintiff was represented by Alexandra Snyder. Plaintiff
11 requested a two-week continuance of the temporary restraining order in order to have an independent 12 brain death determination performed. Counsel represented that petitioners were being advised by an 13 out of state physician who would find a physician licensed in California to perform an independent 14 examination. During the proceeding, Kaiser Roseville offered testimony from Dr. Myette, Israel's 15 attending physician. Dr. Myette described Israel's clinical course starting from April 1, 2016. He 16 also explained that a determination of brain death in children is a clinical diagnosis based on the 17 absence of neurologic function. The Guidelines recommend two examinations, including apnea 18 testing, with each examination separated by an observation period.

19 The neurological examination described by Dr. Myette involves a finding of complete loss of 20 consciousness, vocalization, and volitional activities. The patient must lack evidence of 21 responsiveness with an absence of eye opening or moving in response to noxious stimulant.<sup>7</sup> The
22 examination also assesses for the loss of all brainstem reflexes including: no response by the pupils
23 to light, the absence of movement of bulbar musculature including facial and oropharyngeal muscles,
24 no grimacing or facial movements in response to deep pressure on the condyles and supraorbital
25 ridge, the absence of gag, cough, sucking and rooting reflex, the absence of corneal reflexes, and the

26
27 <sup>7</sup> Even in brain death, certain non-purposeful muscular movements may occur. These movements do not negate the 28 diagnosis of brain death. Plaintiff has not identified any California licensed physician who will provide competent medical testimony to the contrary. No such testimony or evidence was provided in the state court case.

1 absence of oculovestibular reflexes. The apnea test measures the existence or absence of a patient's
2 breathing drive (the ability to draw a breath) by challenging the respiratory system with CO<sub>2</sub>.

3 Taken together, the clinical evaluation, neurological examination and apnea test evaluate for 4 brain death. The neurological examination should be performed by different attending physicians.
5 The apnea test may be performed by the same physician. After listening to Dr. Myette and giving 6 plaintiff the opportunity to present any evidence or testimony in support of her case, neither of which 7 was done, the court issued an order continuing the restraining order for one week to April 22, 2016.
8 The additional time was to provide plaintiff with an opportunity to have an independent examination 9 performed.

10 On April 22, 2016, the parties appeared for the continued hearing on the temporary 11 restraining order. Plaintiff's counsel advised that the family intended to transfer Israel to Sacred 12 Heart Medical Center in Spokane, Washington. To facilitate the transfer, the parties entered into a 13 detailed stipulation, which the court incorporated into an order. The restraining order and related 14 conditions were to stay in effect until April 27, 2016. The parties agreed and were ordered to work
15 together to facilitate the transfer, which they did. Ultimately, Sacred Heart declined Israel's 16 admission. Israel continued to remain at Kaiser Roseville.

17 On April 27, 2016, the parties appeared for yet another hearing on the temporary restraining 18 order. Plaintiff's counsel requested a continuance of two more weeks to continue her efforts to find
19 a suitable facility to transfer Israel to and to find a physician who would perform another brain death
20 evaluation. Plaintiff also requested that Kaiser Roseville be ordered to install a percutaneous
21 endoscopic gastrostomy tube or "PEG tube" and a tracheostomy tube, upon the representation that it
22 would help to facilitate transfer to another facility or to home care. Plaintiff only provided 23 declarations from Dr. Byrne (see ft. nt. 3) and a critical care coordinator to support her request for an 24 additional continuance. The court found that plaintiff had failed to present competent medical 25 evidence showing a mistake in the determination of brain death or a failure to use accepted medical 26 standards in making that determination. The court also denied plaintiff's request for an order
27 directing physicians at Kaiser Roseville to insert a PEG tube or a tracheostomy tube. The court
28

1 ordered that the restraining order would remain in effect until April 29, 2016, in order to fulfill
2 Kaiser Roseville's obligation to provide the family with a reasonably brief period of time under 3 Health & Safety Code section 1254.4 to gather at Israel's bedside.

4 On April 28, 2016, plaintiff filed her lawsuit in federal court with a request for a temporary
5 restraining order. Pursuant to plaintiff's ex parte request, The Hon. Troy Nunley issued a temporary 6 restraining order and set a hearing for May 1, 2016.

7 On April 29, 2016, the parties appeared in state court once again. At this final hearing, the 8 court dissolved the temporary restraining order issued on April 27, 2016 and ruled that "Health and 9 Safety Code sections 7180 and 7181 have been complied with" by Kaiser Roseville and its 10 physicians. The determination of brain death that was challenged by plaintiff and supported by the 11 state court is the only medical determination of brain death relating to Israel. The determinations
12 made by UCD Medical Center and Kaiser Roseville both still stand. To the extent plaintiff believes
13 the trial court erred in making this determination, the remedy is to take a direct appeal in state court
14 of the trial court's decision. Kaiser Roseville is not aware of any appeal having been filed.
15 Additionally, plaintiff did not make a request of the trial court at the hearing on April 29th that the 16 court stay dissolving its restraining order for a relatively brief period of time so that plaintiff could 17 file an appeal in state court and make a request that the court of appeal keep the restraining order in 18 place until the appeal could be heard on the merits. Nor did they ever present a competent expert to 19 perform another examination.

20 IV. LEGAL ANALYSIS

21 A. Plaintiff's claims are not asserted against the right legal party since Kaiser 22 Roseville and Dr. Myette are not state or government actors that have allegedly 23 violated plaintiff's constitutional rights.

24 Plaintiff only named Kaiser Permanente Medical Center Roseville (which is not a legal 25 entity) and Dr. Michael Myette in her lawsuit.<sup>8</sup> Although plaintiff makes a vague allegation in 26 Paragraph 4 of her complaint that "KPRMC receives funding from the state and federal government

27 <sup>8</sup> Plaintiff also failed to provide notice to the Attorney General of the State of California, thereby prejudicing the State's 28 right to intervene and defend plaintiff's Constitutional attack on CUDDA. See local rule 132, United State District Court, Eastern District of California; 28 USC section 2403; and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 5.1

1 which is used to directly and indirectly provide healthcare services to individuals including but not
2 limited to Israel Stinson,” this general statement does not come close to establishing that Kaiser
3 Roseville is a state or government entity against whom a lawsuit for an alleged violation of plaintiff’s
4 or Israel’s Constitutional rights can be asserted. With respect to Dr. Myette, there is no allegation
5 that he is a state actor. See Shaw v. Delta Airlines, 463 U.S. 85, 96 n.14 (1983); California Shock
6 Trauma Air Rescue v. State Compensation Insurance Fund, 636 F.3d 538, 544 (9th Cir. 2011); New 7 Orleans & Gulf Coast Ry. Co. v. Barrios, 533 F.3d 321, 330 (5th Cir. 2008); Colonial Penn Grp.,
8 Inc. v. Colonial Deposit Co., 834 F.2d 229, 237 (1st Cir.1987) [“Jurisdiction over actions for 9 declarations of pre-emption can logically only be asserted where a state official is the defendant”];
10 and Lloyd’s Aviation, Inc. v. Center for Environmental Health, 2011 WL 497866 (E.D. Calif. 2011)
11 [the action alleging a Constitutional violation must be one against state officials and not private 12 parties].

13           There is no specific or detailed allegation in the Complaint that Kaiser Roseville or Dr.
14 Myette are state actors or that either defendant stands in the shoes of the state for purposes of 15 plaintiff seeking injunctive relief against an alleged violation of plaintiff’s constitutional rights or the 16 rights of Israel. As the Supreme Court stated in Brentwood Academy v. Tennessee Secondary School
17 Athletic Association, et al., 531 U.S. 288 (2001):

18           If the Fourteenth Amendment is not to be displaced, therefore, its ambit cannot be a 19 simple line between States and people operating outside formally governmental 20 organizations, and the deed of an ostensibly private organization or individual is to 21 be treated sometimes as if a State had caused it to be performed. Thus, we say that 22 state action may be found if, though only if, there is such a “close nexus between the 23 State and the challenged action” that seemingly private behavior “may be fairly 24 treated as that of the State itself.

25 Citations and quotation marks omitted.

26           Plaintiff has not pled in her Complaint, nor has she submitted any evidence in support of her 27 request for injunctive relief, to establish that Kaiser Roseville or Dr. Myette are state actors that can 28 be enjoined from allegedly violating plaintiff’s or Israel’s rights under the Constitution. Without a proper factual or legal basis for invoking federal court jurisdiction on the Constitutional claims,

1 plaintiff does not have a basis for arguing that injunctive relief is appropriate in this case. In 2 Jackson v. East Bay Hospital, 980 F. Supp. 1341, 1357-58 (N.D. Cal. 1997), the Court held that a 3 private hospital “cannot be deemed a state actor merely because they are recipients of state or 4 federal funding...such as Medicare, Medicaid, or Hill-Burton funds.” See also Taylor v. St.
5 Vincent’s Hospital, 523 F.2d 75, 77 (9th Cir. 1975) [receipt of public funds under the Hill-Burton
6 Act was not proper grounds for finding a private hospital to be a state actor for purposes of 42
7 U.S.C. section 1983]; Rendell-Baker v. Kohn, 457 U.S. 830, 840 (1982) [privately operated school 8 not deemed to be a state actor even though “virtually all of the school’s income was derived from 9 government funding”].

10 B. Plaintiff is unable to establish a substantial likelihood of success on the merits
11 or that there are serious questions going to the merits of her claims.

12 A plaintiff moving for injunctive relief is required to make a very specific showing in support
13 of the request. Rule 65(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure governs the issuance of temporary 14 protective orders and injunctive relief. The elements required to obtain a preliminary injunction are 15 well-settled: “A plaintiff seeking a preliminary injunction must establish that he is likely to succeed
16 on the merits, that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the absence of preliminary relief, that the 17 balance of equities tips in his favor, and that an injunction is in the public interest.” Winter v.
18 Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 20 (2008) (citing Munaf v. Geren, 553 U.S.
19 674, 689-690 (2008); Amoco Production Co. v. Gambell, 480 U.S. 531, 542 (1987); Weinberger v.
20 Romero-Barcelo, 456 U.S. 305, 311–312 (1982).

21 A preliminary injunction is an extraordinary remedy never awarded as a matter of right.
22 Winter, supra at 555 U.S. at 553 (citing Munaf, 553 U.S., at 689-690). In the Ninth Circuit, the 23 “serious questions” prong of the sliding scale test arguably survived the holding in Winter. Thus, a 24 preliminary injunction is only appropriate when a plaintiff demonstrates that serious questions going 25 to the merits have been raised and the balance of hardships tips sharply in the plaintiff’s favor.
26 Alliance for the Wild Rockies v. Cottrell, 632 F.3d 1127, 1134-35 (9th Cir. 2011). The petitioner is 27 required to make a showing on all four prongs. Id. at 1135. Here, although the events themselves are 28

1 obviously serious and tragic, plaintiff fails to raise “serious questions” going to the merits of her
2 claims as that term has been legally defined.

3 1. CUDDA provides a legislatively mandated statutory framework within 4 which physicians in the State of California are required to make
5 determinations regarding whether a patient is legally dead.

6 Modern medicine and technological advancements have enabled physicians to prolong the 7 organ function even after the brain ceases to function and the patient is clinically and legally dead.
8 Dority v. Superior Court, 145 Cal.App.3d 273, 277 (1983). Such circumstances often arise out of 9 tragic events. Health & Safety Code section 7180(a)(2) provides, “An individual who has 10 sustained...irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire brain, including the brain stem, is 11 dead. A determination of death must be made in accordance with accepted medical standards.”
12 Although historically, death has been defined as the cessation of heart and respiratory functions, the 13 California Legislature in enacting CUDDA provided an alternative definition of death as an 14 irreversible cessation of all brain function. See Barber v. Superior Court, 147 Cal.App.3d 1006, 15 1013 (1983). As the court stated in Barber, in enacting Health and Safety Code section 7019, the 16 Legislature made a “clear recognition of the fact that the real seat of ‘life’ is brain function rather 17 than mere metabolic processes which result from respiration and circulation.” Id. For more than 18 twenty years since the enactment of CUDDA, California hospitals and physicians have been 19 determining death by virtue of irreversible cessation of brain function. This has occurred in 20 countless unfortunate situations involving individuals holding various types and degrees of religious 21 beliefs.

22 Under well-established medical guidelines, a determination of brain death in children is a 23 clinical diagnosis based on the absence of neurologic function with a known irreversible cause of 24 coma. (Nakagawa, TA. Guidelines for the Determination of Brain Death in Infants and Children:
25 An Update of the 1987 Task Force Recommendations –Executive Summary, Annals of Neurology,
26 2012, Vol. 71, pp. 573-585.) As explained by Dr. Myette in the state court action, the Guidelines 27 recommend two examinations, including apnea testing, with each examination separated by an 28 observation period. Id. The neurological examination involves a finding of complete loss of

1 consciousness, vocalization, and volitional activities. The patient must lack all evidence of 2 responsiveness with an absence of eye opening or movement in response to noxious stimulant. The
3 examination also assesses for the loss of all brainstem reflexes including: no response by the pupils
4 to light, the absence of movement of bulbar musculature including facial and oropharyngeal muscles,
5 no grimacing or facial movements in response to deep pressure on the condyles and supraorbital
6 ridge, the absence of gag, cough, sucking and rooting reflex, the absence of corneal reflexes, and the 7 absence of oculovestibular reflexes. The apnea test measures the existence or absence of a patient's
8 breathing drive (the ability to draw a breath) by challenging the respiratory system with CO<sub>2</sub>. Taken 9 together, the clinical evaluation, neurological examination and apnea test evaluate for brain death.
10 The neurological examination should be performed by different attending physicians. Id. The apnea
11 test may be performed by the same physician. Id. Unfortunately, the unrefuted medical evidence in 12 the case establishes that Israel meets the aforementioned criteria for brain death.

13 Both UCD Medical Center and Kaiser Roseville followed the well-established examination
14 protocol to determine brain death. All results were consistent with brain death. In addition, a 15 nuclear medicine radionuclide scan revealed no perfusion in Israel's brain. MRI and CT scans of 16 Israel's head showed a herniated brain stem. Kaiser Roseville performed the brain death 17 examination twice. The second examination at Kaiser Roseville was administered after an 18 appropriate waiting period and by a different attending physician. Each physician conducted the 19 examinations in full compliance with the Guidelines on brain death examinations.

20 Health & Safety Code section 7181 provides, "When an individual is pronounced dead by 21 determining that the individual has sustained an irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire 22 brain, including the brain stem, there shall be independent confirmation by another physician." In 23 most cases, a different physician from the same treating facility provides the independent
24 confirmation. Here, Israel suffered his anoxic event on April 2, 2016. His first brain death
25 examination occurred on April 8, 2016 at UCD Medical Center. A second brain death examination
26 occurred on April 12, 2016 at Kaiser Roseville. A third brain death examination occurred at Kaiser
27 Roseville on April 14, 2016. Three different physicians have administered brain death examinations
28

1 and each found the results to be consistent with brain death. Other tests, such as MRI/CT scans and 2 nuclear medicine radionuclide scans corroborate the finding of brain death. Neither the results of the 3 tests nor the manner in which they were conducted have been challenged by plaintiff. The state court
4 found the examinations complied with CUDDA.

5 This is not a situation involving a person in a persistent vegetative state, where the person is 6 in an unconscious wakeful state with a diminished level of brain activity. Rather, Israel's brain has 7 permanently and completely stopped functioning. When a person in a persistent vegetative state is 8 on cardio-pulmonary support, the patient's maintenance requires keeping a relatively stable
9 individual on a machine and checking the patient's vital signs. Because Israel's brain is no longer
10 communicating to his organs or functioning at all, many metabolic functions and chemical processes
11 will not occur without mechanical support and will degrade over time. Maintaining support to 12 Israel's organs requires constant monitoring and adjustments to his glucose, salt, medication,
13 adrenaline and other hormone levels. Continued cardio-pulmonary support, medication and nutrition 14 is a futile effort. Israel's condition cannot and will not improve over time, because he has suffered 15 permanent, irreversible and total cessation of all brain functions. While the death of a child is always 16 tragic, futile care deprives Israel the dignity of his death.

17 2. Kaiser Roseville provided plaintiff and Israel's family with a period of 18 time to accommodate the religious practices and concerns of plaintiff 19 and her family.

20 Kaiser Roseville has been sensitive to the concerns raised by plaintiff. It provided plaintiff
21 with a reasonable period of time to make arrangements for Israel which could have included 22 transferring him to another medical facility, even though a determination was made by physicians at 23 both Kaiser Roseville and UCD Medical Center that Israel was unfortunately brain dead. The state 24 court supervised the timing and allowed plaintiff the additional time that the court felt was 25 reasonable under the circumstances. Health & Safety Code section 1254.4, which became law on 26 January 1, 2009, requires a hospital covered by CUDDA to provide a "reasonably brief period" of 27 time for the parents and family to gather at the patient's bedside. Id. It also requires a covered 28 hospital to make "reasonable efforts to accommodate those religious and cultural practices and

1 concerns” expressed by the parents and family. In determining what is “reasonable” a hospital “shall
2 consider the needs of other patients and prospective patients in urgent need of care.” Id. The state
3 court found that Kaiser Roseville had satisfied this statutory requirement to provide a reasonably 4 brief period of accommodation.

5 3. Kaiser Roseville physicians have provided appropriate care to Israel and 6 this care should not include placement of a PEG tube or a tracheostomy 7 tube.

8 a. The state court has already ruled that Kaiser Roseville physicians
9 cannot be directed to place a PEG tube or a tracheostomy tube.

10 Plaintiff suggests in her Complaint and declarations filed in federal court that Kaiser
11 Roseville is required to accommodate plaintiff by conducting medical procedures its physicians 12 believe, in the exercise of their clinical judgment would be medically futile, given the finding of 13 brain death. Plaintiff also asserts that Kaiser Roseville physicians are required to indefinitely keep 14 Israel on artificial physiological support until he can be transferred, or until the condition of his 15 body deteriorates to the point where it meets plaintiff’s definition of death, e.g., when the heart goes
16 into cardiac arrest and breathing can no longer be artificially maintained. The trial court specifically 17 ruled that requiring Kaiser Roseville doctors to conduct these procedures would create significant 18 ethical concerns. Plaintiff should not be permitted to relitigate this issue in her federal court case.

19 Plaintiff is now making the same request in a different forum. Plaintiff made this request in 20 state court and Judge Jones denied her request, finding Health & Safety Code section 1254.4, did not 21 require Kaiser to provide any additional medical care. Collateral estoppel precludes relitigation of 22 issues argued and necessarily decided in prior proceedings. Ivanova v. Columbia Pictures Industries,
23 Inc. 217 F.R.D. 501 (2003). Federal courts must accord a state court judgment or determination the 24 same preclusive effect that the judgment or determination would receive in the rendering state's 25 courts. Skysign Int'l, Inc. v. City & Cty. of Honolulu, 276 F.3d 1109, 1115 (9th Cir. 2002) (citing 28 26 U.S.C. section 1738). In Lucido v. Sup. Ct. (1990) 51 Cal.3d. 335, 341-43, the California Supreme 27 Court articulated six criteria required for the application of issue preclusion: (1) the issue “must be 28 identical to that decided in a former proceeding”; (2) it “must have been actually litigated in the

1 former proceeding”; (3) it “must have been necessarily decided in the former proceeding”; (4) “the 2 decision in the former proceeding must be final and on the merits”; (5) “the party against whom 3 preclusion is sought must be the same as, or in privity with, the party to the former proceeding”; and 4 (6) application of issue preclusion must be consistent with the public policies of “preservation of the 5 integrity of the judicial system, promotion of judicial economy, and protection of litigants from 6 harassment by vexatious litigation.” Here, the criteria for issue preclusion are met. Plaintiff sought
7 the same injunctive relief in the state court proceeding. She provided declarations supporting the 8 placement of a PEG tube and tracheostomy tube. Judge Jones considered her request and expressly
9 denied the relief sought. By dissolving the temporary restraining order, Judge Jones’ decision
10 became final. The parties are the same and the application of issue preclusion is consistent with the 11 public policy of preventing an unsuccessful litigant from “shopping around” for relief after an 12 unfavorable decision. See B & B Hardware, Inc. v. Gargis Industries, Inc., 135 S.Ct. 1293, 1299
13 (2015).

14                                   b. Under California law physicians are not required to participate 15                                   in medical procedures they believe would not improve the 16                                   condition of the patient.

17           Plaintiff provided no legal support in the state court action, nor has she provided any in her 18 moving papers in this case, to support a request to have physicians perform invasive medical 19 procedures on Israel who has been declared legally dead. There is nothing in the language of Health
20 & Safety Code section 1254.4 that requires this to be done. California has enacted a fairly detailed 21 statutory framework governing when a physician may refuse to provide medical care that the 22 physician believes would not improve the condition of the patient. Probate Code section 4735
23 provides “A health care provider or health care institution may decline to comply with an individual 24 health care instruction or health care decision that requires medically ineffective health care or health
25 care contrary to generally accepted health care standards applicable to the health care provider or 26 institution.” In addition, Probate Code section 4654 states, “This division does not authorize or 27 require a health care provider or health care institution to provide health care contrary to generally 28 accepted health care standards applicable to the health care provider or health care institution.”

1 Finally, Probate Code section 4736 provides guidelines for the transfer of a patient with respect to 2 pain medication and palliative care.

3
4 In Barber v. Superior Court, supra 147 Cal.App.3d at 1018, a criminal case against two
5 physicians, the court affirmed the general principle that a physician has no duty to continue treatment
6 that is ineffective:

7 A physician is authorized under the standards of medical practice to discontinue a
8 form of therapy which in his medical judgment is useless.... If the treating physicians 9 have determined that continued use of a respirator is useless, then they may decide to 10 discontinue it without fear of civil or criminal liability. By useless is meant that the 11 continued use of the therapy cannot and does not improve the prognosis for recovery.
(Horan, Euthanasia and Brain Death: Ethical and Legal Considerations (1978) 315
Annals N.Y.Acad. **217 Sci. 363, 367, as quoted in President's Commission, supra,
ch. 5, p. 191, fn. 50.)

12 In this case, although plaintiff honestly believes placement of a PEG tube and tracheostomy
13 tube will improve Israel's condition, no competent medical testimony has been presented by 14 plaintiff to support this belief. Unfortunately, Israel has been determined to be brain dead. This 15 determination was made first by physicians at UCD Medical Center on April 8th and again by 16 physicians at Kaiser Roseville back on April 14th. Dr. Myette testified in state court that the 17 physical damage done to Israel before he presented to Kaiser Roseville is irreversible. There is 18 nothing medicine can do to change this unfortunate fact.

19 4. Plaintiff's claim alleging a violation of the Free Exercise Clause of the 20 First Amendment of the United States Constitution is not substantially 21 likely to succeed and it does not raise a serious questions going to the 22 merits.

23 The Free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment provides that "Congress shall make no law
24 respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof...." United States
25 Constitution, Amendment I. The Free Exercise Clause is applicable to the States by its incorporation 26 into the Fourteenth Amendment. Cantwell v. Connecticut, 310 U.S. 296, 303 (1940). Despite the 27 broad language of the Constitution, the right to exercise one's religion freely is not unlimited. In 28 Emp't Div., Dep't of Human Res. Of Ore. v. Smith, 494 U.S. 872, 879 (1990), the Supreme Court

1 explained the right of free exercise does not relieve an individual of the obligation to comply with a
2 valid and neutral law of general applicability on the grounds that the law proscribes (or prescribes)
3 conduct that his religion prescribes (or proscribes). Smith, 494 U.S. at 879. Additionally, the state
4 enacting the law that is being challenged is not required by the Constitution to create a religious 5 practice exemption. Smith, supra at 890; A Woman's Friend Pregnancy Resource Center v. Attorney
6 General of the State of California, 2015 WL 9274116 (E.D. Calif. 2015), citing to and relying on 7 Smith.

8         When a challenged law is neutral on its face, as it is in this case, the question for the court is 9 whether it can survive a rational basis standard of review. Stormans, Inc. v. Weisman, 794 F.3d
10 1064, 1075-76 (9th Cir.2015). The law must be upheld if it is rationally related to a legitimate
11 governmental purpose. Id. at 1084, citing Gadda v. State Bar. Of Cal. 511 F.3d 933, 938 (9th 12 Cir.2007). In challenging the law and whether a rational basis exists, plaintiff has the “burden to 13 negat[e] every conceivable basis which might support [the rules]. Id., quoting FCC v. Beach
14 Commc'ns. Inc., 508 U.S. 307, 315 (1993). Additionally, because plaintiff is seeking injunctive 15 relief, plaintiff must demonstrate that the balance of hardships tips “sharply” in her favor, as well as 16 the likelihood of irreparable injury and that the injunction is in the public interest. Alliance for the 17 Wild Rockies v. Cottrell, supra at 1134-35 (9th Cir. 2011).

18         California has a rational basis for defining when death occurs. In re Christopher, 106
19 Cal.App.4th 533, 550 (2003) [“The California Legislature has recognized that medical technology
20 may prolong the process of dying and that continued health care that does not improve the prognosis 21 for recovery may violate patient dignity and cause unnecessary pain and suffering, while providing 22 nothing medically necessary or beneficial to the person.”]; Dority, supra 145 Cal.App.3d 273. In 23 Dority, a guardian was appointed to make medical decisions for a 19 day old infant after the parents
24 were placed in custody for child abuse. After conducting an appropriate medical examination under 25 Health & Safety Code section 7180, et seq., the attending doctors concluded the infant was brain
26 dead as that term is defined under California law. The guardian appointed by the court became 27 involved to decide whether the child should be removed from life support. After a hearing at which 28

1 unrefuted medical testimony established the infant was brain dead, the court directed the guardian to
2 authorize the removal of all artificial support being provided to the infant. The parents objected to 3 consent being given. Although the court of appeal was unable to rule on the legal issues before the 4 infant passed away, the court determined that important public policy issues raised in the case
5 warranted a decision even after the infant had passed.

6 The Court in Dority discussed the competing interests in determining whether or not life
7 support should be removed when a child is declared brain dead, as well as the question of what
8 safeguards are in place to have this decision reviewed by the courts. The court in Dority stated:

9 Many times prolonging this biological existence with life-support devices only 10 prolongs suffering, adding economical and emotional burden to all concerned.
11 Conversely, a decision to withdraw these devices which would eventually result in the 12 cessation of all bodily functions even though no life is left may cause equal emotional 13 trauma.

14 The court went on to acknowledge the need in situations like this for the doctors and 15 hospital to involve the parents in the process. Id. at 279. However, where there is a disagreement 16 over the medical determination of brain death in a child, “the jurisdiction of the court can be 17 involved upon a sufficient showing that it is reasonably probable that a mistake has been made in 18 the diagnosis of brain death or where the diagnosis was not made in accord with accepted medical 19 standards.” Id. at 280. The Court then went on to hold that given the competing interests and rights 20 of the parties and after hearing unrefuted medical testimony that the infant was brain dead,
21 including testimony from the medical providers, it was within the court’s power to find the infant 22 had been determined to be brain dead and that artificial support was appropriately ordered by the 23 trial court to be removed. Id. at 280. The decision made by the Court in Dority is the same decision 24 that was made by the state court in this case.

25 The California Legislature, along with the overwhelming majority of other states (see ft.
26 nt.1), have made a determination that irreversible cessation of all functions of the brain, including 27 the brain stem, constitutes death in the eyes of the law. Health & Safety Code section 7180(a)(2).
28 There is a rational basis for the Legislature’s decision to so define death. See Probate Code sections 4654, 4735, 4736; Barber, supra, at 147 Cal.App.3d 1983; Dority, supra, at 145 Cal.App.3d 273;

1 and In re Christopher, supra, at 106 Cal.App.4th 533. Plaintiff will be unable to meet her “burden
2 to negat[e] every conceivable basis which might support [the rules].” Stormans, supra, at 1075-76.

3 The legal definition of brain death under CUDDA aligns with the medical reality that the 4 brain is the orchestrator of all other bodily functions, such that an inert brain can no longer sustain
5 life nor be considered itself to be alive. The law also recognizes that modern medical technology can 6 artificially maintain organ function and bodily activities even in a person who has no hope of ever
7 regaining the ability to perform any of these things on their own. As applied to health care providers, 8 an expectation that such persons be deemed alive places ethical burdens on individuals whose 9 mission is to heal, treat pain, and assist people in giving birth and ending life, not to mention the 10 resource strain such an expectation would impose on the health care system.

11 12 5. Plaintiff’s claim alleging a violation of her Right to Privacy under the 13 Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution
14 is not substantially likely to succeed and it does not raise a serious
15 questions going to the merits.

16 With respect to both plaintiff’s Third and Fourth Count in her Complaint, plaintiff alleges on 17 her behalf and on behalf of Israel that their “right to privacy” was denied by defendants. See 18 Complaint, pg. 12:5-10 and pg. 13:17-22. There is no statement by plaintiff regarding the 19 healthcare that is allegedly being denied or how a privacy interest is being denied with respect to 20 making decisions for Israel. A medical determination has been made that Israel is brain dead.
21 Plaintiff sought review of this decision in state court where the determination made by both UCD
22 Medical Center and Kaiser Roseville was affirmed.

23 To the extent plaintiff’s allegations are raising a claim of a denial of substantive due process, 24 the Supreme Court “require[s] in substantive due-process cases a ‘careful description’ of the 25 asserted fundamental liberty interest.” Washington v. Glucksberg, 521 U.S. 01, 728 (1997). The 26 substantive due process right being asserted by plaintiff “must be carefully stated and narrowly
27 identified before the ensuing analysis can proceed.” Raich v. Gonzales, 500 F3d 850, 864 (9th 28 Cir.2007). If plaintiff is alleging that she has a substantive due process right to redefine the definition of brain death that has been established by the California Legislature under CUDDA, she

1 has provided absolutely no citation to controlling or even instructive legal authority, nor is there any
2 legal analysis in her ex-parte papers. Moreover, Dr. Myette and Kaiser Roseville are not the proper 3 parties to this case since they both simply followed the mandatory statutory rules promulgated by 4 the California Legislature. Plaintiff's issues are with the Legislature and its enactment of CUDDA.

5 Plaintiff has failed to clearly define what substantive right she is asking the court to find is 6 protected by her right to privacy or any right to privacy that may be held by Israel. The Supreme
7 Court has cautioned that restraint should be exercised in finding substantive due process rights
8 "because guideposts for responsible decision making in this uncharted area are scarce and open-9 ended" and because judicial extension of constitutional protection for an asserted substantive due 10 process right "place[s] the matter outside the arena of public debate and legislative action" (citations
11 omitted); Glucksberg, supra, 521 U.S. at 720; Reno v. Flores, 507 U.S. 292, 302 (1993) (noting 12 that "[t]he doctrine of judicial self-restraint requires us to exercise the utmost care whenever we are 13 asked to break new ground in this field" (quoting Collins v. Harker Heights, 503 U.S. 115, 125 14 (1992)).

15 6. There is no basis for asserting a claim under the Rehabilitation Act and 16 the ADA under the facts alleged in this case.

17 It is not at all clear how plaintiff can assert claims under the Americans with Disability Act
18 ("ADA") as embodied in 42 U.S.C. section 12101 et seq. or the Federal Rehabilitation Act as 19 embodied in 29 U.S.C. section 794 et seq. See Thompson v. Davis, 295 F.3d 890, 895 (9th Cir.2002)
20 discussing factors needed to assert an ADA claim.

21 7. The abstention doctrine under Colorado River v. United States should 22 result in the staying of any federal court proceedings until the state court
23 proceedings are concluded.

24 On April 29, 2016, the state court issued its final ruling. Plaintiff has a right to appeal that 25 ruling in state court. During the hearing on April 29th plaintiff did not make a request that the trial
26 court stay its order dissolving the temporary restraining order until a notice of appeal could be filed
27 the following week. That appeal would involve the issues decided by the state court concerning 28 state law; specifically California's adoption and implementation of CUDDA, and whether there

1 should be a religious exemption to the definition of brain death under CUDDA. Plaintiff now seeks 2 an adjudication of those issues in federal court instead of utilizing the proper state appellate process.
3 When an issue or claim is raised in a federal court case that is also the subject of a state court
4 proceeding, federal courts should abstain from adjudicating the issues that are pending in state
5 court. Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States, 424 U.S. 800, 817 (1976).
6 Plaintiff's Complaint only seeks declaratory relief. There is no claim being made for damages.
7 Following the doctrine of abstention is particularly appropriate when (1) the issue raised is one of 8 state law, (2) the state court case is more developed than the case in federal court, and (3) the federal 9 court case seeks declaratory relief on the issues that are pending in state court. Id. at 818; R.R.
10 Street & Co. v. Transport Ins. Co., 656 F.3d 966, 980-981 (9th Cir.2011); Snodgrass v. Provident
11 Life & Accident Ins. Co., 147 F.3d 1163, 1167-1168 (9th Cir.1988). Accordingly, to the extent this 12 court is inclined to adjudicate the issues and claim for relief in plaintiff's Complaint, the court
13 should stay the proceeding and abstain from taking any further action while plaintiff prosecutes her 14 right to an appeal in state court.

15 V. CONCLUSION

16 For all the foregoing reasons, Kaiser Roseville and Dr. Myette believe the requested injunctive 17 relief should be denied in its entirety.

18 DATED: May 1, 2016

BUTY & CURLIANO LLP

19 20 By: _____

JASON J. CURLIANO
Attorneys for Defendants
KAISER PERMANENTE MEDICAL CENTER
ROSEVILLE (a non-legal entity) and DR.
MICHAEL MYETTE

PROOF OF SERVICE

I am employed in the County of Alameda, State of California. I am over the age of eighteen years and not a party to the within entitled cause; my business address is 516 16th Street, Oakland, CA 94612.

On May 1, 2016, I caused to be served the following document:

KAISER ROSEVILLE AND DR. MICHAEL MYETTE'S OPPOSITION TO REQUEST FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND FURTHER INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

on the interested parties in said cause, by: placing a true copy thereof enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed as follows and I caused delivery to be made by the mode of service indicated below:

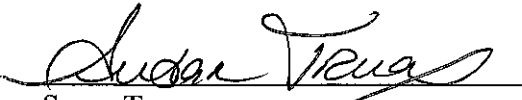

Kevin T. Snider, State Bar No. 170988
Michael J. Pepper, State Bar. No. 192265
Matthew B. McReynolds, State Bar No. 234797
PACIFIC JUSTICE INSTITUTE
P.O. Box 276600
Sacramento, CA 95827
Tel. (916) 857-6900
Fax (916) 857-6902
Email: ksnider@pji.org

I caused a true and correct copy of the aforementioned document(s) to be transmitted electronically to all parties designated on the United States Eastern District Court CM/ECF website.

(By Mail) on all parties in said action in accordance with Code of Civil Procedure Section 1013, by placing a true and correct copy thereof enclosed in a sealed envelope in a designated area for outgoing mail, addressed as set forth above, at Buty & Curliano, which mail placed in that designated area is given the correct amount of postage and is deposited that same day, in the ordinary course of business, in a United States mailbox in the County of Alameda.

(By Email): On May 1, 2016 I caused a copy of the document(s) described on the attached document list, together with a copy of this declaration, to be emailed listed on the attached service list.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on May 1, 2016, at Oakland, California.

Susan Truax